

BA (Hons)/ MA English Studies (F/T) - SH 537

The Department of English Studies is committed to furthering the understanding of English language and literature in the context of contemporary culture and society. Using approaches that provide theoretical, linguistic, literary and cultural perspectives, the Department focuses on the political as well as the aesthetic dimensions of English as a form of communication and artistic expression.

1. Objectives

The Department of English Studies is offering a four-year full time BA (Hons)/MA in English Studies. The BA/MA degree programme is designed to provide knowledge and competence in the fields of literature, language, culture and society for a wide range of professions in such sectors as teaching, the civil service, the media or public relations. A key objective of the Department of English Studies is to offer training in theories and methods of literary/critical thinking as well as their application in practical contexts. By focusing on specific genres and texts, we encourage students to engage in critical practices that make them aware of the effects of social, political, cultural, historical, and ideological formations on individuals and society. The identity of the Department is framed by the selection of key themes that define its curriculum:

- Canonical Literature
- Language and Linguistics
- Postcolonial and Multicultural Studies
- Critical/Literary Theory
- Popular Culture and Cultural Theory
- Cultural Studies
- Gender Studies
- American Studies
- Indian Ocean Literatures

Skills & Knowledge Outcomes

- Knowledge of major literary and linguistic genres, concepts, theories
- Critical Thinking
- Independent Thinking
- Written and Oral Communication Skills
- Creativity
- Cross-cultural Awareness
- Research Skills

Teaching and Learning Methods

The primary objective of the Department of English Studies is to help students hone transferable skills, independent thinking, creativity, and oral/written communication skills. Modules are conducted through a combination of lectures and seminars, with a strong emphasis on student participation and interaction. Small-class seminars concentrate on student writing and speaking and offer substantial opportunity for intense as well as informed discussions.

Students will be required to participate actively in seminar discussions, write in a variety of formats (short seminar papers, long take-home essays), and present seminar papers regularly.
